1. Some ethical considerations for our project are that we will consistently advance the integrity of our profession throughout working on this project and we will also make sure our product meets the highest professional standards.
2. Any open textbox area could be open to a multitude of attacks such as XSS or SQL injection. We can prevent this with text validation and sanitization. We can also prevent the improper use of <> symbols or javascript functions in the textboxes. We can prevent inappropriate projects or images by having a report/contact system where users can report these incidents and we will investigate them.
